

2nd semester

Topic 67:

Grammar:

“The causative”

“Problems and solutions”

We use the causative in English to say that we have arranged for someone to do something for us.

The causative is formed with 'have + object + past participle' The past participle has a passive meaning.

For example:

I have my car repaired.

(he didn't repair his car himself)

Change these examples into the structure 'have + object + past participle'

1. I washed my car.
2. I cut my hair.
3. I typed the documents.
4. I fixed my washing machine.
5. I cut my grass.
6. I painted my bedroom.
7. I repaired my fridge.
8. I tidied my garden.

Answer the questions

- Do you have any problem right now?
- Have you already found a solution for that problem?

Make up sentences using causative and the following words.

- Accident
- Assume
- Cause
- Claim
- Complain
- Convince
- Criticize
- Deny
- Discussion
- Gossip
- Ideal
- Insult
- Investigate
- Praise
- Pretend
- Warn